DESTINY RECOVERY PRAYER CONGRESS MESSAGE.

Pastor A.S.O Olaleye

The Wounded Destiny Be Healed

Text: Jeremiah 30:17 For I will restore health to you And heal you of your wounds,' says the Lord, 'Because they called you an outcast saying: "This is Zion; No one seeks her." As I was praying and thinking on the message for this theme, God told me to use the story of my life because it was a "wounded identity" that was healed.

I know what it means to be victimized and I know what it means to "be the victim".

I was wounded by a sense of abandonment from my parents from primary school till I entered Secondary School.

In primary School my school will stop for some time whenever my father relocated as oso malo trader.

When he relocated I began to follow him to market to sell goods for him until that term or sections finish and is to repeat that same class.

Prayer: Iwo ogbe a fakoko eni Sofo GBE Lara mi Ioni.

My wound continue in secondary school because each holiday period some students will go on holiday in the city but I and my immediate elder brother will not go until after we must have done labourers for for like 2months to get money to keep ourselves for sometimes the next section.

After School cert the destiny was wounded again when I finished and my father said he can't train us beyond school cert.

Listen, your destiny can be wounded if you are not careful with the kind of friends you move with.

I came to Lagos immediately after School cert to continue with the wound like an orphan.

Declaration.....Your children will not live like orphans in Jesus name.

The wound continue when I joined NEPA in 1984 as a canteen cleaner with grade level 01.

Hello, where you started may not really be the issue but where you end metters.

Song: Emi o dide o, emi o dide,

Bi ipile mi tile kere JoJo, emi o dide(2ce).

Prayer: O God, no matter how little my beginning may be, I will rise in the name of Jesus.

DESTINY RECOVERY PRAYER CONGRESS MESSAGE.

Pastor A.S.O Olaleye

On that day August 6th, 1984, as I was given the cleaner apron, I shed tears.

I summon courage when the uncle who helped me to join NEPA told me that I should not worry because if I am serious there is no level I can not rise to.

I made a declaration that day that I shall rise in this organisation.

Declaration: Say I declare, every arrow in my life that is keeping me down what are you waiting for, catch fire in the name of Jesus Christ.

The wound started to receive healing when I came to my senses and moved closer to God.

If you are far away from God wounds on your destiny will not receive healing because the only one who can heal wounded destiny is God through His only begotten son, Jesus Christ.

I started evening class and sat for GCE and passed and with that I was redesignated to clerical officer personnel.

God continue to heal the wound when I started writing ICAN exams, I started with ATS I&II.

The wound wanted to remain when I passed 4 subjects out of 5 subjects and I was to rewrite the whole 5 because I had double stars.

Declaration: I decree and I declared every power that want wounds to remain in your life and destiny shall be wasted

I wrote the five subjects again and I passed it, I wrote part two I passed it.

The healing became significant because ICAN ATS I & II then was equivalent to OND accounting in any Polytechnic in Nigeria.

With the certificate, I was redesignated to executive officer(iv) that is grade level 06 I was on that level for two three years.

After which I got married and the wound reappeared because there was delay for six years during which there was even physical wound in the fifth year of looking for the fruit of the womb.

I went for 7 days prayer on the 8th day as I was coming back, I had flat tyre, after I changed to extral thread I bent down to carry the licked tyre to put it in the boot, I heard a sound at my back.

Those of you waiting on the Lord for the fruit of the womb run outside here.

After the first born, I apply for admission to do HND accounting at The Polytechnic, Ibadan and I was given.

When I came back started writing ICAN professional exams again and promotion was coming, the day I was promoted to the post of an accountant, I shed another tears but that time it was tears of joy.

The first tears was a sorrowful tear of wound with cleaner's apron but the second tears was that of healed wound with corporate suit.

I joined NEPA as a canteen cleaner in 1984 and I retired voluntarily when it was PHCN as an Accountant in 2009 for full time ministry based on God's instruction because my wounded destiny was healed.

Your wounded destiny shall be healed in Jesus name.
